

Currently approach passage is unnecessarily dangerous as tiny mistakes would result in a fall of approximately 50ft. It currently is not possible to create a handline from the tube / 10ft overhang side and there is insufficient natural to create one on the stream passage side.

Even if our dig is unsuccessful this short overhang would make a fun exciting trip for most skilled cavers. without a descent to the cave.